OCTOBER 2015

Inside this issue:

How many of you remember sights like this from your Army days? The sight and sound of dozens of Huey helicopters coming in to pick up you and your mates and whisk you off at a great rate of knots!

You can relive some of those memories when we go to Port Pirie.

The RSAR Association is planning a visit to the Port Pirie RSL in the very near future. The President Rod Beames is to hire a bus which will depart from Keswick barracks around 0900 hrs and return top that location about 1800 hrs. The preferred dates are Sunday 1st, 8th, or 15th November. The RSL in Pt Pirie has a very extensive Museum, and includes an Iroguois Helicopter (HUEY) of Vietnam War vintage.

The plan is to visit the RSL, tour the Museum, stay for lunch and depart about 1400 hrs. A set lunch of Cold Serve- ¼ chicken, ham, beef with Salad bar, Rolls and Butter, Fresh Fruit Salad and Ice-cream, Bottomless cup Tea and Coffee will be available for just $15 per head, with alcoholic beverages also available at members expense.

This is a tour not to be missed, and seats are strictly limited to 20, plus driver. The only cost to you is for the lunch.

Anyone interested in participating is asked to contact the Secretary David Laing on the numbers provided on Page 6. First come, first served.

DON'T MISS OUT!

DID YOU KNOW?

How many aircraft did the US lose in Vietnam?

In total, the United States lost in Vietnam almost 10,000 aircraft and helicopters.

Wouldn't it be nice if the ADF had that many aircraft?

Final Part

By the beginning of April 1941, German forces had advanced through the Balkans and were poised to invade Greece. The Australian 6th Division joined an Allied force sent to help bolster the depleted Greek Army—in a vain attempt to help stem the German tide.

Ammunition was desperately required at the front, and there was a sense of urgency as Eric tied down the tarpaulin on the last of the boxes being loaded onto the truck. The Luftwaffe had command of the skies and the main supply route was under constant observation. To get through, the convoy would have to take their chances and run the gauntlet of enemy bombardment. The trucks hurried along the main road, spread out to avoid presenting a massed target to air or artillery attack. Suddenly they saw them—in the distance, mere black dots against the cloudless sky. As they came closer, the Diggers could identify the bent, gull-like wings of Stukas, the deadly enemy dive-bombers.

The drivers pressed the accelerators flat to the floor, in a vain attempt to outrun the aircraft and reach the safety of the mountain passes. Some made it, but others were caught in the open. The drivers did their best to take evasive action to dodge the bombs, but it was useless. As Eric's truck careered at breakneck speed along the roadway, a bomb detonated directly in front of it. The vehicle ended up overturned in a ditch beside the road.

Soldiers sheltering nearby struggled to free the driver and passenger from the wreck, but as they pulled the corporal from the cabin they realised that their efforts were in vain. Eric's exploits of courage and determination, despite age, illness and personal loss, provide a shining example of the mettle of Australian youth in the early part of the 20th century. Yet having survived the duration and ravages of the First World War, he again stood up to be counted when Australians were called upon to serve King and country in the Second World War. Sadly, Eric was not so lucky second time around.

Corporal Noel Eric Bolton-Wood was laid to rest in the Phaleron War Cemetery in Athens, Greece.

LETTER TO THE SOUTH EAST BRANCH (Bob Sandow)

Good Afternoon Robert,

I write to offer my gratitude for being invited to join ACOY Mt Gambier RSARA Branch at the Bivouac at Palpara on the 11th - 13th Sep 2015.

As you are aware we were generously hosted by Max and Heather Ruwoldt, from Friday to Monday and we were really pleased to be able to join many of you for dinner in the RSL Club on Friday evening.

The Bivouac area was great, the company of some 24 of your members, some I have known for many years, some with whom I renewed acquaintances and some of whom are new friends, they were all very welcoming and convivial. It was interesting to see two of your members bought along their dogs, two Fox Terriers and a magnificent German Shepherd. I was also interested to know that Fox Terriers have a particularly cold nose.

The camp fire was huge and warming, watching the perimeter constrict and expand brings back fond memories, as does the variety of refreshments. I was particularly impressed with RSARA SE's involvement of the members wives (13 of them, no mean gesture) in providing for their dinner on Saturday night at the Malaysian restaurant, inclusive of my wife.

Your provision of electronics to see important events unfold, e.g. the Crow's magnificent victory over the Dogs and to listen to some stirring music, that set all the 48 feet present tapping was great.

A copy of the DVD of Pte Bosisto's Burial in France will be with you soon and I trust the videos of the 10/27RSAR linking parade and the Edinburgh Tattoo provide some enjoyment and meet some historical purposes.

I wish you and your members every success for the future and will do all in my power to ensure some "townies" make the trip next year. I trust the photos fill in any gaps.

Warmest regards to you all.

Tex Ranger (Major-Retd)

Metro members maybe interested in participating in a future SE Branch exercise. If so, details will be forthcoming shortly.

Letter to the RSARA from the CO 10/27 Bn RSAR

To the members of the Royal South Australia Regiment Association, a big thank you.

As you would be aware this is the last year of my command and I will hand over to Lieutenant Colonel Trent Bernard at the end of the year.

Whilst the last three yours have been extremely busy they have also been some of the most rewarding I have experienced. We maintain an extremely high tempo and are currently getting ready for the next continuous period of training, Exercise Pozieres, which is the combined 4 Brigade/9 Brigade activity as part of Battle Group Jacka.

This cycle and the number of activities we continue to attend and support has been impressive. When I commenced as CO, we were the standard two company strength Infantry Battalion. Today we effectively have a Battle Group structure of five sub units. Now known at Battle Group 'Shrike', we comprise the two infantry companies along with Artillery-6/13 Light Battery, Engineers-3 Field Squadron, and Armour-3/9 South Australia Mounted Rifles. The benefit of this is that we now regularly train in the combined arms environment and I have no doubt this will make the Battalion a more capable unit, working as a team, to deal with our operational demands wherever they may be.

We also continue to be challenged with a wide range of support tasks, recruiting, introduction into service of new equipment, and training over three states in thirteen depots. Our relationship and work with other 1 Brigade units in both Adelaide (Edinburgh) and Darwin continues to be a highlight and again assists us in lifting overall training standards.

The 10/27 Battalion Band also continues to impress with its support to internal and external tasks. Whilst in the past there have been rumours about the Bands future, I am very happy to say they will remain a part of the Battalion. They work incredibly hard and have stepped up to assist in a myriad of requests and concerts, to the enjoyment of all. I am regularly thanked for the assistance they have provided and I consider their contribution vital to the ongoing success of the Battalion.

Over the journey we also achieved a great deal in addition to our normal requirements, both on the state and national stage. This includes winning the national 2nd Division Best Section competition, currently having the Top Shot within the defence force, and winning the Simpson trophy for the last three years, just to name a few. We have also been very active in the centenary celebrations with our parade last year at the Torrens Parade Ground, marching on ANZAC Day, and Freedom of the City parades at both Unley and Adelaide. We also raised considerable amounts of money for chosen charities that continue to assist those serving or those in support. The efforts of the Battalion continue to impress me with their understanding and role within society.

I now come to the associations that have, and continue to support us.

As I said above, a big thank you. I thank you for your support and assistance. I guess your public face is behind the BBQs, completing projects such as the Memorial Garden, or attending some of our activities. These have been great and I know the soldiers in particular have very much enjoyed having you there in support. Your "can do" attitude is inspirational.

But it is more than that. I have enjoyed presenting to the RSARA President Rod Beames and LTCOL Graham Goodwin unveil the plaque dedicating the Memorial Garden at Keswick Barracks.

THE POWER OF THE MEDIA

One day an English bloke was driving around the backblocks of Sydney, when he saw a little girl in the paddock next to him. With the little girl was a gigantic bull, that was preparing to gore the little girl.

The Pom took action. He slammed on the brakes of his car, jumped out, ran over, jumped the barbed wire fence, grabbed the bull by it's horns, flipped it over and broke it's back.

An Aussie reporter saw the whole thing, and after the bull was dead (not being aware that the guy was English) he rushed over to congratulate him.

" That was absolutely bloody fantastic mate! It'll make front page news, just give me your details?"

So the Pom gives him his details. A day later he buys the newspaper and looks at the headline. It reads "POMMY BASTARD KILLS LITTLE GIRLS PET!"

association to outline what the Battalion has been doing, likewise sitting with you in the crowd listening to the band at one of the many support activities, or even discussing recruiting options at members work places.

But more than anything, I have enjoyed our conversations, the advice, counsel and camaraderie. Command presents many challenges and having an association such as yourselves in support has made my job a lot easier.

I have no doubt our paths will cross again and I wish you all the very best for the future. Continue the good work in the knowledge that you have, and do, make a big difference.

Remembrance Day

Why is this day special to POPPY APPEAL Australians?

At 11 am on 11 November 1918 the guns of the Western Front fell silent after more than four years continuous warfare. The allied armies had driven the German invaders back, having inflicted heavy defeats upon them over the preceding four months. In November the Germans called for an armistice (suspension of fighting) in order to secure a peace settlement. They accepted allied terms that amounted to unconditional surrender.

The 11th hour of the 11th day of the 11th month attained a special significance in the post-war years. The moment when hostilities ceased on the Western Front became universally associated with the remembrance of those who had died in the war. This first modern world conflict had brought about the mobilisation of over 70 million people and left between 9 and 13 million dead, perhaps as many as one-third of them with no known grave. The allied nations chose this day and time for the commemoration of their war dead.

On the first anniversary of the armistice in 1919 two minutes' silence was instituted as part of the main commemorative ceremony at the new Cenotaph in London. The silence was proposed by Australian journalist Edward Honey, who was working in Fleet Street. At about the same time, a South African statesman made a similar proposal to the British Cabinet, which endorsed it. King George V personally requested all the people of the British Empire to suspend normal activities for two minutes on the hour of the armistice "which stayed the worldwide carnage of the four preceding years and marked the victory of Right and Freedom". The two minutes' silence was popularly adopted and it became a central feature of commemorations on Armistice Day.

On the second anniversary of the armistice in 1920 the commemoration was given added significance when it became a funeral, with the return of the remains of an unknown soldier from the battlefields of the Western Front. Unknown soldiers were interred with full military honours in Westminster Abbey in London and at the Arc de Triumph in Paris. The entombment in London attracted over one million people within a week to pay their respects at the unknown soldier's tomb. Most other allied nations adopted the tradition of entombing unknown soldiers over the following decade.

After the end of the Second World War, the Australian and British governments changed the name to Remembrance Day. Armistice Day was no longer an appropriate title for a day which would commemorate all war dead.

In Australia on the 75th anniversary of the armistice in 1993 Remembrance Day ceremonies again became the focus of national attention. The remains of an unknown Australian soldier, exhumed from a First World War military cemetery in France, were ceremonially entombed in the Memorial's Hall of Memory. Remembrance Day ceremonies were conducted simultaneously in towns and cities all over the country, culminating at the moment of burial at 11 am and coinciding with the traditional two minutes' silence. This ceremony, which touched a chord across the Australian nation, re-established Remembrance Day as a significant day of commemoration.

Four years later, in 1997, Governor-General Sir William Deane issued a proclamation formally declaring 11 November to be Remembrance Day, urging all Australians to observe one minute's silence at 11 am on 11 November each year to remember those who died or suffered for Australia's cause in all wars and armed conflicts.
