Australia has a proud history of peacekeeping. On 14 September each year, we observe National Peacekeepers' Day. It commemorates the anniversary of Australia's first involvement in peace operations. Four Australians became the world's first peacekeepers to deploy into the field, in the Netherlands East Indies (now Indonesia) on 14 September 1947.

National Peacekeepers' Day honours all Australian peacekeepers, peacemakers, peacebuilders and peace enforcers. They have made extraordinary contributions to uphold international stability and security in challenging environments.

Since 1947, over 65,000 Australians have served in peace operations, and 17 have lost their lives. This day is a time for us to recognise and remember their service and sacrifice. We also reflect on the dedication, unwavering commitment, compassion, resilience and professionalism of those who continue to serve.

We thank those who have served in our name.

EDITORIAL

The Battle of Amiens is continued from last month on Page 3. Our Regiment played a major part in this campaign, and we commemorate it each year with a Dining in Night at Keswick Barracks Officers Mess. The President, Vice President and Secretary of the RSAR Association were cordially invited by the Commanding Officer to attend the dinner along with our wives, and some pics of the night are on Page 17.

Our 2026 Annual General Meeting was well attended with 48 members and their wives/partners gathering to vote on some changes to the Constitution and have a few drinks with mates. All the pics are on Page 8-10 with more on our Facebook page.

Keeping everyone up to date with our operations is paramount in the way we do business, so I have put some words down on Page 11 and 12 to keep everyone abreast of our situation. It's my 2026 AGM Report.

In mid-August a number of RSAR Association Committee Members were invited by LTCOL Darrin Tyson to visit and observe the Battalion in action at the Cultana Training Area during Exercise Austral Shield. We were accommodated in the "luxurious" Baxter Facility, which used to be a Detention Centre but now houses rabbits and red dust! Most of us had been there in the 70's and 80's when it was the Alamein Army Camp, so we enjoyed the change and made the most of it by getting back to basics, and had a great time with the Diggers in the field while they went through their paces. Some of the pics are on Page 13-17

Situations Vacant. No more! After being vacant for 2 years the RSARA Secretary's position has now been filled by committee member Paul Tucker, and the Merchandising Officers role, vacated by Selina Laing has been taken up by WO1 David Portakiewicz. We thank David & Paul immensely for their offers of support and wish them well in their new positions.

Our End of Year Lunch will be held on Sunday 29th November at the Warradale Barracks Sgts Mess from 1100 hrs onwards, and this is the last chance to catch up with friends and colleagues before the Christmas stand down. The food is FREE and drinks are at very generous Mess prices, plus some great raffle prizes are on offer. Book now by contacting David Laing or Paul Tucker on the numbers at the top left hand side of this page!

That's it for this month. Stay safe and stay well.

The Battle Of Amiens 1918

Map depicting the advance of the Allied line

The battle began in dense fog at 4:20 am on 8 August. Under Rawlinson's F ourth Army, the British III Corps attacked north of the Somme, the Australian Corps to the south of the river in the centre of Fourth Army's front, and the Canadian Corps to the south of the Australians. The French 1st Army under General Debeney opened its preliminary bombardment at the same time and began its advance 45 minutes later, supported by a battalion of 72 Whippet tanks. Although German forces were on the alert, this was mainly in anticipation of possible retaliation for their incursion on the sixth and not because they had learned of the preplanned Allied attack. Although the two forces were within 460 metres (500 yd) of one another, gas bombardment was very low, as the bulk of the Allied presence was unknown to the Germans. The attack was so unexpected that German forces only began to return fire after five minutes, and even then, at the positions where the Allied forces had assembled at the start of the battle and had long since left.

In the first phase, seven divisions attacked: the British 18th (Eastern) and 58th (2/1st London), the Australian 2nd and 3rd, and the Canadian 1st, 2nd and 3rd Divisions. Troops of the 33rd Infantry Division of the U.S. Army National Guard supported the British attackers north of the Somme.

The attackers captured the first German position, advancing about 3.7 km (4,000 yd; 2.3 mi) by about 7:30 am. In the centre, supporting units following the leading divisions attacked the second objective a further 3.2 km (2.0 mi) distant. Australian units reached their first objectives by 7:10 am, and by 8:20 am, the Australian 4th and 5th Divisions and the Canadian 4th Division passed through the initial breach in the German lines. The third phase of the attack was assigned to infantry-carrying Mark V* tanks; however, the infantry was able to carry out this final step unaided. The Allies penetrated well to the rear of the German defenses, and cavalry now continued the advance, one brigade in the Australian sector and two cavalry divisions in the Canadian sector. Aircraft fire by the new RAF and armoured car fire kept the retreating Germans from rallying.

The Canadian and Australian forces in the centre advanced quickly, pushing the line 4.8 km (3.0 mi) forward from its starting point by 11:00 am. The speed of their advance was such that a party of German officers and some divisional staff were captured while eating breakfast. A gap 24 km (15 mi) long was punched in the German line south of the Somme by the end of the day. There was less success north of the river, where the British III Corps had only a single tank battalion in support, the terrain was rougher, and the German incursion of 6 August had disrupted some of the preparations. The corps gained its first objectives but was held up short of the Chipilly spur, "a bare seventy-five-foot-high ridge" in an oxbow bend of the Somme near the village of Chipilly.

The French forces on the right flank also attacked, capturing Moreuil by 9:30 am. They shelled the Germans for three hours and twenty minutes. The French IX Corps began to advance but was stopped on the Avre. Later, the XXXI Corps took Mézières and occupied Fresnoy by nine o'clock. The French suffered 3,500 casualties and took over 5,000 German soldiers prisoner.

The Allies penetrated 10 miles, at a cost of 12,000 casualties, and captured over 15,000 prisoners. Total German losses were estimated to be 30,000 on 8 August. The British, Australian and Canadian infantry of the Fourth Army sustained about 8,000 casualties, with further losses by tank and air personnel, and French forces.

German Army Chief of Staff Paul von Hindenburg noted the Allies' use of surprise and that Allied destruction of German lines of communication had hampered potential German counter-attacks by isolating command positions. The German General Erich Ludendorff described the first day of Amiens as the "Schwarzer Tag des deutschen Heeres" (the "black day of the German Army"), not because of the ground lost to the advancing Allies, but because the morale of the German troops had sunk to the point where large numbers of troops began to capitulate. He recounted instances of retreating troops shouting "You're prolonging the war!" at officers who tried to rally them, and "Blackleg!" at reserves moving up. Five German divisions had effectively been engulfed. Allied forces had pushed, on average, 11 km (6.8 mi) into enemy territory by the end of the day.<sup>1</sup> The Canadians gained 13 km (8.1 mi), Australians 11 km (6.8 mi), the French 8 km (5.0 mi), and the British 3.2 km (2.0 mi).

Do you know, if you lined everyone in the Chinese Army up in ranks of 10, and marched them over a cliff.....they wouldn't be bloody happy!!

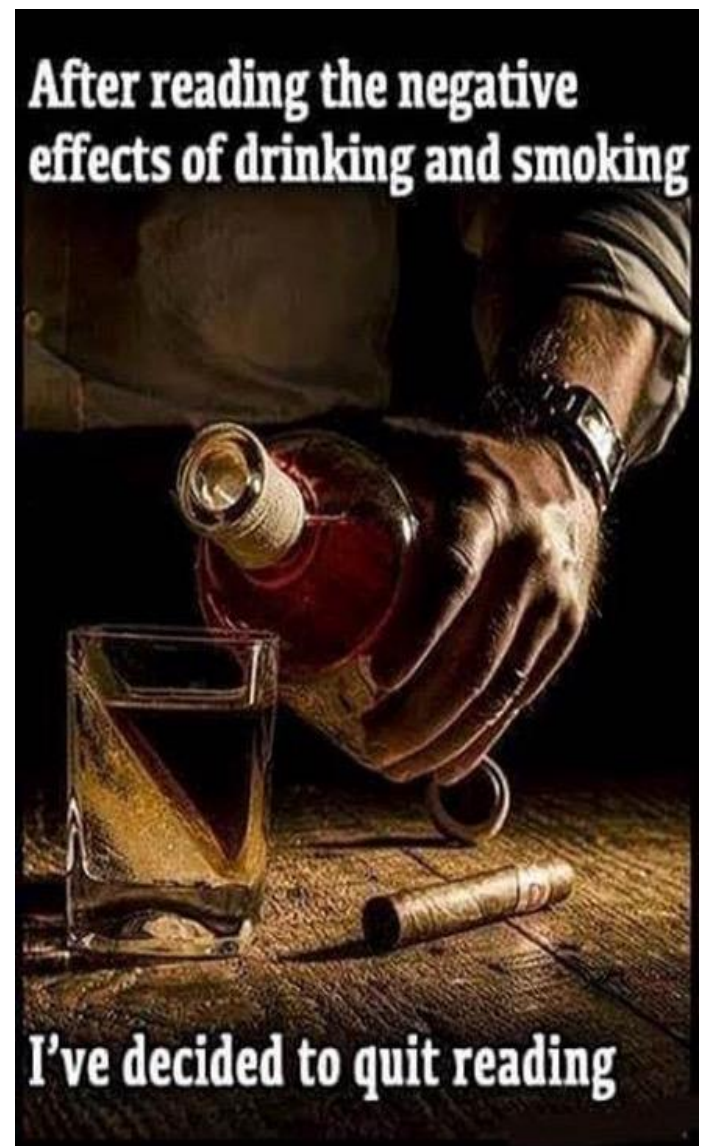

My boss calls me "the computer".

Nothing to do with intelligence, I go to sleep if left unattended for 15 minutes.

Little boy sitting on his step eating candy just as fast as he could unwrap it. A man passing by saw what he was doing. He said all that candy is not good for you and will spoil your dinner. The little boy said I don't know about that but my grandpa lived to be a 102. The man said wow you mean by eating candy. The little boy said no, by minding his own business.

2026 AGM

The 2026 AGM was conducted on Sunday 2nd August at the Avoca Hotel, with 48 members enjoying the atmosphere and camaraderie of the day. The majority voted to make some important changes to the Constitution, plus bring some new committee members on board. Paul Tucker was voted in as the new Secretary, and Jason Conway and Ronnie Andrews took up their new roles as Serving Member Liaison Officers. Welcome on board gentlemen!

After the meeting members enjoyed some wonderful food provided by the Avoca kitchen wizards, and had time to swap old war stories. Some of them true!

Thank you to all who attended and we'll do it all again next year!!

Selina Laing with 29 years' service in the Reserve and Regular Army. Her father David Laing with 6 years in the Army Reserve and 17 years as an Officer in the Army Cadets. Paul (Tich) Tyson with 32 years' service in the Regular and Army Reserve. His son Darrin Tyson who is the Commanding Officer of the magnificent 10th/27th Battalion RSAR, with 25 years mainly as a Regular and now the Army Reserve. What a team, with over 100 years of combined service???

2026 AGM Presidents Report

I now enter my 3rd year as President and my 17th as Secretary, and wish to thank the committee and other members of this Association who have supported me throughout the past 12 months, making my job much easier.

On this day, 2nd August 36 years ago Iraq invaded Kuwait, and Saddam Hussein's subsequent refusal to withdraw his troops sparked the Persian Gulf War, in which an international force, containing Australian troops and led by the United States quickly defeated Iraq. Some things never change.

As is always the case, when we have someone who does an exemplary job in their elected role, they pack up and leave us. Such is the case with our Merchandising and Marketing Officer Selina, who is leaving us for a new life overseas with her daughter Adaline. Selina has performed her role extremely well and applied some new innovations to our Merchandise and Marketing, which have made it easier for us to do business. I'm sure you will all join me in wishing Selina all the best in her new endeavours, and thank her for her service.

We have not had any soldiers on Border Protection duties this year, so there has been no need for any Care Packages, however we have instigated a New Arrivals Pack for any soldiers whose wife/partner has given birth. So far this year we have provided 7 packs to the families of our "new arrivals."

A small group of volunteers helped out at the 2026 Force Preservation Awareness Training exercise at RAAF Base Edinburgh in February, and we fed 105 hungry soldiers with a combination of barbequed sausages, onions and bread, and a fresh fruit salad dessert.

Unfortunately, due to the age of some of our volunteers, and the lack of help from members, we have withdrawn that type of support from the Battalion, although we will continue to support the soldiers in many other ways, by way of awards and prizes for high achievers, HQ honour board updates, support for the wonderful Band and of course the camaraderie of the serving and former serving members and their partners.

Our AGM and End of Year Lunches are the highlights of our year and I'm pleased to see both becoming more popular.

This year our membership numbers are at 236, with 101 being current Serving Members, and still steadily growing, making us one of the most progressive ex-services groups in the country.

We always need more members, so if you know of a comrade who would benefit from joining us, please steer them in the right direction. We also need new members on the committee who are prepared to take over the work currently carried out by the older members as they "reach their use-by-dates". The future of this group is in their hands.

We had a very successful ANZAC Day, with 30 members marching the long road to the Cross of Sacrifice. We send our thanks to the two Banner Bearers PTE Isaac Osbourne and PTE Charles Wilkinson, and the others who embarked on that long journey down North Tce and King William St.

The big move of the Battalion from Keswick Barracks to Warradale and RAAF Base Edinburgh is still no closer, but we'll take any news as it comes. The good folk at the Army Museum have an enormous task ahead of them when the move finally happens, and we'll be calling for "All Hands On Deck" to assist with that move. Des Hawkins, Curator of our Historical Collection will be asking for help when that time comes.

And while I'm talking about Des, I wish to thank him for taking up some of the load, and the rest of our very supportive committee for spreading themselves out and "having my back!" Thanks to:

David Portakiewicz

Mark Blondell

Phil Stuart

Michael Abraham

Selina Laing

Christian Bennett

Paul Tucker

Mick Hudson

Jesse Humphrys

And last but not least, our high flying Padre Stephen Albrecht. Thank you all.

We have had two new Serving Members join our committee to replace 2 who are leaving. Sgt Ronnie Andrews and Sgt Jason Conway have stepped up to replace WO2 Mark Blondell and Sgt Michael Abraham who have been on our committee collectively for over 16 years. Thank you to Blondie and Abes for your hard work and your friendship, and go well in your new postings.

And of course I would like to thank all of the faithful members, including those gathered here today, for your support of the Association and the Battalion over the past year. We can't do it without you, so please stay with us.

Sadly, at the end of the year we will lose our Commanding Officer LTCOL Darrin Tyson and the RSM WO1 Mark Broadbent who are jetting off to other postings. Both have worked extremely hard to ensure constant liaison between the Association and the Battalion and I thank them sincerely for their support and friendship. Now is not the time to farewell them, as they still have a Battalion to run, but we hope you will join me in showing your appreciation for their support and friendship over the past 2 years. Next year we will train 2 new soldiers to take their place.

I look forward to seeing you all at the End of Year lunch at the Warradale Barracks Sergeants Mess on Sunday 29th November at 1100 hrs where some very important presentations will be made.

I commend this report to you.

Thank you

David Laing

10th/27th Battalion in Action

9th Brigade invited a number of civilian employers of Army Reservists to travel to Cultana and observe their employees in action during Exercise Austral Shield 2026. Myself, Des Hawkins and Paul Tucker went along for the ride and were very impressed with the professionalism of our young soldiers doing what they are trained to do. The employers were given the opportunity to view the vehicles and equipment used by the soldiers, and even participate in some hands-on weapons training. The exercise culminated with a Battalion Live Fire operation (using live ammunition and explosives brings its own challenges) where a large number of soldiers moved into the field to seek out and destroy an enemy force, clear a minefield using explosives, and neutralize an enemy bunker. Safety was of the highest priority, and all members were strictly supervised and overseen during every phase of the operation. Thanks to a number of personnel (including Battalion and Defence) for the pics, which are on the next few pages.

Padres Ponderings!

From Padre Stephen Albrecht Chaplain 10th/27th Battalion RSAR

For many Reservists, life is lived in two distinct worlds. During the week, you may be a teacher, tradesperson, healthcare worker, fireman, office professional, or business owner. On Tuesday nights, weekends, and during annual training, you become a soldier, committed to serving the nation. Can I say it's a unique role. While it is a rewarding way to serve, it also requires careful planning and clear communication.

A typical Reserve commitment includes weekly training, training weekends, and several weeks of continuous training each year. As responsibilities increase through promotion or specialist appointments, so too do the demands on your time. Learning to manage competing priorities is essential for maintaining a healthy balance between military service, civilian employment, family, and personal wellbeing.

Communication is one of the most important tools a Reservist has. Keeping your employer informed about training commitments, talking openly with your family, and maintaining honest conversations with your chain of command can prevent unnecessary stress and help everyone work together. In Australia, Reservists are also supported by the Defence Reserve Service (Protection) Act 2001, which helps protect civilian employment during approved Reserve service. Many employers also recognise the value Reservists bring to the workplace by offering flexible work arrangements and military leave.

Work induced stress is a genuine risk when trying to meet the demands of two careers. Military training builds resilience, but resilience also means recognising when you need support. If work, family, or Reserve commitments become overwhelming, speak with your supervisors, your chain of command, or your chaplain early.

Ultimately, being a Reservist is about faithful service not only to your country, but also to your family, your employer, and yourself. Balance is not achieved by trying to do everything perfectly, but by wisely managing your time, protecting your wellbeing, and asking for help when needed. As Scripture reminds us, "There is a time for everything, and a season for every activity under the heavens" (Ecclesiastes 3:1). With wisdom, planning, and God's strength, it is possible to serve both uniforms well.

Des Hawkins, David Laing & Paul Tucker

The 2026 Amiens Dining in Night was held at the Keswick Barracks Officers Mess on Friday 4th September to commemorate the historic Battle of Amiens during WW1 which helped turn the tide of war against the Germans and back into the favour of the Allies. The original 10th and 27th Battalions played a major part in the campaign, which succeeded in bringing an end to the war.

The Dining in Night was hosted by the CO of the 10th/27th Battalion LTCOL Darrin Tyson and the RSM WO1 Mark Broadbent in what was their last official duty before leaving the Battalion for future postings.

The event was attended by over 80 guests with many former Commanding Officers of the Battalion, Brigade Commanders and RSAR Association members enjoying the camaraderie of the evening.

Well done 10th/27th Battalion and staff.
