EDITORIAL

I start this month with an abject apology! Not being the sharpest IT user in the world, I am one to pre-plan a lot of my work and store it for later use. The same applies to my newsletters, which I have partially completed out to 2028. I set up the format in Microsoft Publisher, filling in the jokes section and some stories I think you may find interesting. Then all I have to do is complete some up-to-date information, change the format to PDF and email it out! Simples! Not so! Somehow my old Publisher files became corrupt (like a girl I used to know) and all my hard work is now unusable! So, I had to start all over again, and because Microsoft are no longer supporting Publisher beyond 2026, I'm now forced to use Microsoft Word for my base. If anyone out there knows how to get my old Publisher files back, I WOULD BE MOST HAPPY TO HEAR FROM YOU.

Once again the magnificent Band of the 10th/27th Battalion will showcase their talents at a concert to be held at St Peters Girls School on 12th October at 2 pm. We haven't seen our boys and girls for some time as they've been busy supporting our soldiers on Exercise Talisman Sabre 2025 in the NT, so this is the perfect time to buy your tickets for only $25 and get along for a fantastic afternoon of brilliant music. Details are on Page 5. I'll see you there!

Speaking of Exercise Talisman Sabre 2025, Association member SGT Michael Abraham has provided us with some insight into what our soldiers got up to during one of the biggest multi-national exercises ever held in Australia. A large number of our SA soldiers travelled to the NT to participate in this grueling exercise, some for up to 4 weeks, and you can read all about it on Pages 6-8. Thanks Abes!

As I'm getting older with each year (like us all) I've decided to give someone else a chance to help run this Association, so please see and read the article on the next page.

The RSAR Association and the Battalion recently hosted a visit to Keswick Barracks by the daughters of one of our past Commanding Officers, LTCOL T.W. Twible. Read all about it on Page 9-11.

And on a sad note, we reflect on the passing of former RSARA Life Member Reg Yorke-Simpkin who passed away 2 weeks ago, and was sadly followed by his wife Jan who passed 3 days later. A dual service was held to celebrate their lives, and it was well attended by RSARA members, including WO2 Mark Blondell, who represented the Battalion, WO1 David Portakiewicz, and his brother Richard who played the Last Post. I had the honour of reciting the Ode of Remembrance on request from the family. Lest We Forget.

Stay well and stay safe

SITUATION VACANT - SECRETARY

Having carried out the role of Secretary since 2009, I have hopefully helped the RSAR Association become more visible by instigating this monthly newsletter, starting our own Facebook page, and helping first Frank Morony and then Jesse Humphrys set up our very prominent website www.rsara.asn.au

I have had much pleasure in performing these tasks, but since taking on the role of President from our late mate Rod Beames I have also taken on more duties, such as being a member of the Regimental Council, and I feel it's time to hand the Secretary's reigns to someone else. I will do this job as long as I can, but with age comes certain other challenges, and I feel it's time for someone with similar talents to step up and lend a hand.

I shall continue to edit this newsletter and manage our Facebook page, but I need someone to help "shoulder the load!"

Here's the criteria:

- The Secretary is to liaise with the President and Committee and set dates for Committee meetings, Annual General Meetings, various support exercises and End of Year functions.
- The Secretary is to book venues for AGM's and support exercises, and arrange access for members to enter restricted areas, i.e. RAAF Base Edinburgh, Murray Bridge Training Area etc.
- The Secretary is responsible to arrange volunteer support staff for exercises.
- The Secretary shall arrange and attend all meetings (4 committee and 1 AGM each year) and take note of all proceedings, prepare and present a true record of all meetings, conduct all correspondence, take all necessary steps to carry out the directions of The Committee and of the assembled members. The Secretary is responsible for the setting of the agenda for each meeting and the recording of Minutes for the same.
- The Secretary shall hand over all books, documentation and other property in his/her possession belonging to The Association auditor when required by The President or on the decision of any meeting of The Association.
- The Secretary shall also be responsible for duties associated with applications for membership as set down in Clauses 13.2, 13.3, 13.4. of the Constitution. (On our website)

It's not a hard job, but it takes more of my time than I can afford, so I am prepared to mentor a new Secretary for as long as it takes them to become accustomed to the duties required.

This position is open to anyone with minor computer skills, a good attitude, good sense of humour and an urge to assist this wonderful organisation. The successful applicant will be required to join the Committee of Management after nomination.

Applicants are invited to send an email to davidlaing49@bigpond.com with their current details and skills. If you are a Serving Member of the Battalion, that does NOT preclude you from applying, and all applications will be treated with utmost confidentiality. All emails will be answered.

Give it a go. You'll enjoy it! I did!

Cheers

David Laing

PADRE'S PONDERINGS

From Padre Stephen Albrecht - Chaplain 10th/27th Battalion RSAR

As Reservist units, we face a unique challenge. We balance civilian careers, studies, and family responsibilities alongside our service, yet when we come together, we form a capability that contributes directly to the Army's mission. Readiness for us means being prepared physically, mentally, and tactically so that when the call comes whether for training, operations, or community support we can step forward with confidence.

Readiness starts with the individual soldier. Maintaining fitness, sustaining core skills, and approaching training with purpose are personal responsibilities. But readiness is also collective: the trust built within a section, confidence in leadership, and the ability to perform under pressure. Every parade night, exercise, and training weekend strengthens our unit and sharpens our capability.

As we begin Exercise Rhino Run 25, we embrace the chance to test our readiness, refine our skills, and grow together as units. This exercise is more than rehearsing tactics, it is about building confidence in one another, strengthening teamwork, and ensuring every soldier understands their role in the bigger picture. Each challenge we face on the range, in navigation, or during maneuvers adds another layer to our effectiveness as 10/27 RSAR.

Rhino Run 25 is also an opportunity to uphold the proud standards of our Regiment. The commitment we show in the field reflects our professionalism as Army Reservists and reinforces our reputation as a reliable and capable force. While balancing service with civilian life, we are reminded of the value of preparation, discipline, and teamwork. Together, we move forward with the confidence that comes from training hard and the determination to be ready for whatever task lies ahead.

Readiness is at the very heart of who we are as a Reserve unit. For 10/27 RSAR, it is more than meeting requirements it is a mindset. It is the ability of every soldier, section, and platoon to respond when called upon, no matter the circumstance.

EXERCISE TALISMAN SABRE 2025

Exercise Talisman Sabre 25 was conducted over the period 12-27JUL25. 10/27 RSAR's involvement was three-fold - a Range Team consisting of NCO's, fearlessly lead by the OPSO CAPT Williams and ADJT CAPT Jilbert, deployed in advance of the 9BDE exercise period to train the USCG PSU 307 on the Australian In-Service EF88 rifle. This enabled the US Coast Guard to participate in the war games and, more importantly, provide an international engagement between US and Australian forces.

Our second team consisted of the 10/27 RSAR Sig Platoon who were, by invite, attached to 144 Signal Squadron. Our signals platoon were split between Larrakeyah and Robertson Barracks where duties included maintaining comms between Darwin, Tindal, Sydney and various other TS25 locations. Further, teams were TACON to 9CSSB at Robertson Barracks where tactical networks were deployed to support the LOG elements. Our final inclusion for TS25 was a lone soldier, PTE Kovacs, who worked for CIS WHITEFOR (Exercise Control) providing signaller support. The RSM informed that 10/27 received a letter of thanks for PTE Kovacs' outstanding work (though we won't mention his Uber reimbursement request!)

SGT Michael Abraham

EXERCISE TALISMAN SABRE 2025

One of the key highlights for me was the opportunity to tour the HMS Prince of Wales aircraft carrier. It was both inspiring and humbling to witness firsthand the scale, capability, and power of such a formidable naval asset. What stood out just as much was the pride and professionalism displayed by the crew—clearly reflected in their commitment to their ship and their roles. It was a true honour to step aboard both the HMS Prince of Wales and HMS Richmond.

Another significant highlight was the hands-on troubleshooting experience with 144 Squadron while setting up communication nets. I gained an exceptional amount of knowledge—far more than I anticipated—particularly in areas such as resolving SATCOM TEK issues, establishing satellite links, hand-jamming 152s, setting up tactical chat, and configuring HF antennas to establish long-range communications with Randwick in Sydney.

Additionally, my time in the JOR (Joint Operations Room), where I was responsible for managing the CMD net and tactical chat independently during peak periods, was invaluable. This experience sharpened my RATEL skills, enhanced my ability to prioritise communications, and taught me the importance of persistence in relaying accurate and timely information.

KEEPING OUR HISTORY ALIVE

Gayle Hopsick and her sister Linda Twible from QLD contacted the RSAR Association a couple of months ago, asking if we had any memorabilia of their late father LTCOL T.W. Twible, A former Commanding Officer of the 10th Battalion RSAR back in the 60s' and 70's.

After calls to our RSARA Historical Officer Des Hawkins and RSM of 10/27 Battalion WO1 Mark Broadbent we found LTCOL Twibles' name on an HQ Honour Roll and an historic shield, donated by LTCOL Twible to promote an inter-battalion cricket match.

The ladies arranged a trip to Adelaide (during torrential rain) and were met at Keswick Barracks 10/27 Bn HQ by David & June Laing and the Commanding Officer LTCOL Darrin Tyson with Regimental Sergeant Major WO1 Mark Broadbent, and given a tour of the HQ facility and shown its historic plaques, shields and honour boards.

KEEPING OUR HISTORY ALIVE

LTCOL Tyson explained the relevance of his family's history within the Regiment, with his own grandfather serving with the 10th Battalion on the Western Front during WW1, and his father serving in Vietnam during the 1960's. He said he was honoured to now lead such a formation of soldiers that had etched its name in history, including his grandfather's service. The ladies were presented with a CO's Challenge Coin by LTCOL Tyson as a memento of their visit.

Since 2001 departing Commanding Officers of the Battalion have been presented with a mounted piece of the original Torrens Parade Ground in Adelaide, Spiritual Home of the Regiment, and as LTCOL Twible had preceded this practice, Acting President of the RSAR Association David Laing presented both ladies with a Regimental Shield containing a piece of the Parade Ground.

The ladies were then given a comprehensive tour of the Army Museum of SA hosted by Des Hawkins, where other memorabilia of their father's time in service were observed.

Thanks go to Des Hawkins for his research and assistance on the day, to June Laing for the wonderful photographs, and especially to CO LTCOL Tyson and RSM WO1 Broadbent for their time and generosity in welcoming the daughters of one of our former Commanding Officers.

Although many use the term ANZAC in a generic sense for all Australian and New Zealand collaboration, the term originally had a much more specific meaning relating to the Australian and New Zealand Army Corps in the First World War. But did you know that it was not just the First World War that had formally established ANZAC units? In this article we will go over the history of the use of ANZAC as a name for Australian and New Zealand units as well as explore some of the surprising ANZAC units who fought in more recent conflicts.

First World War

The first iteration of the ANZAC's was during the Great War when the Australian and New Zealand Army Corps was originally a First World War army corps of the Mediterranean Expeditionary Force in December 1914. It was originally intended to name the corps the Australasian Army Corps, this title being used in the unit diary in line with the common practice of the time, which often saw New Zealanders and Australians compete together as Australasia in sporting events. However, complaints from New Zealand recruits led to the adoption of the name Australian and New Zealand Army Corps. At the beginning, the corps comprised of two divisions; the Australian Division, composed of the 1st, 2nd and 3rd Australian Infantry Brigades and the New Zealand and Australian Division, composed of the New Zealand Infantry Brigade, New Zealand Mounted Rifles Brigade, Australian 1st Light Horse Brigade and 4th Australian Infantry Brigade. The 2nd and 3rd Australian Light Horse Brigades were assigned as corps level troops, belonging to neither division.

Following the Gallipoli evacuation, the Corps was reorganized into I ANZAC Corps and II ANZAC Corps which continued fighting the war in France on the Western Front.

In addition to the main ANZAC Corps, there were also smaller ANZAC units such as the ANZAC Mounted Division, ANZAC Cycling Corps and the 4th (ANZAC) Battalion, Imperial Camel Corps.

In November 1917, the original ANZAC Corps ceased to exist. The Australian infantry divisions in France were grouped together as the Australian Corps and the New Zealand Division, then part of II ANZAC Corps, was allocated to a British corps. From this date, although there was no longer a formal ANZAC force, the spirit of the ANZACS lived on, especially through the sacrifices they had made in Gallipoli and in France, which would go on to be commemorated at the annual ANZAC Day dawn services, a sacred tradition in both nations.

Second World War

One lesser-known official use of the ANZAC name was during the Second World War, when the Australian I Corps HQ moved to Greece in March 1941 as part of the doomed defence against Nazi invasion. As the corps also contained the New Zealand 2nd Division, it was officially renamed the ANZAC Corps on 12 April. The Battle of Greece was over a few weeks later and the corps HQ evacuated mainland Greece on 23–24 April, with the name ANZAC Corps no longer being used. These soldiers have been dubbed the

"Forgotten ANZACS".

Vietnam

During the Vietnam War, two companies from the Royal New Zealand Infantry Regiment were integrated into Royal Australian Regiment battalions. These integrated battalions had the suffix (ANZAC) added to their name (for example, 4 RAR became the 4 RAR/NZ (ANZAC) Battalion). An ANZAC battalion served as one of the infantry battalions of the 1st Australian Task Force (1 ATF) from early March 1968 until its withdrawal in December 1971. There were a total of 3 combined battalions of this period: 2 RAR/NZ Anzac Battalion, 4 RAR/NZ (ANZAC) Battalion and 6 RAR/NZ (ANZAC) Battalion.

Also during the Vietnam War, the Australian and New Zealand Special Air Service Regiments (SASR) operated together, with a troop of the New Zealand SASR being attached to each Australian squadron from late 1968.

In a six-year period the Australian and New Zealand SASR in Vietnam conducted nearly 1,200 patrols and inflicted heavy casualties on the Viet Cong, including 492 killed, 106 possibly killed, 47 wounded, 10 possibly wounded and 11 prisoners captured. Their own losses totalled one killed in action, one died of wounds, three accidentally killed, one missing and one death from illness. Twenty-eight men were wounded.

Apart from the First World War, this was the strongest period of formal collaboration between Australian and New Zealand soldiers, and these ANZAC's deserve to be honoured alongside their forbearers.

Timor Leste

The latest iteration of the ANZACs as a fighting force was the ANZAC Battle Group, the official designation of Australian and New Zealand units deployed to Timor Leste as part of Operation Astute. The battle group was established in September 2006 and was tasked with protecting Timor Leste's security. The ANZAC Battle Group continued operating in Timor Leste until the operation was concluded in 2013 following successful Presidential and Parliamentary elections.

Australian troops landing on Timor beach, 2006 Creative Commons: Australian Civil-Military Centre,

Allied forces returned to Gallipoli Peninsula on 25 April. By the time the last Allied troops finally withdrew in January 1916, both sides had suffered more than half a million casualties. Some 85,000 Ottoman soldiers died, almost double that of the losses suffered by British Empire and French forces.

Those heroes that shed their blood and lost their lives ... You are now lying in the soil of a friendly country. Therefore rest in peace. There is no difference between the Johnnies and the Mehmets to us where they lie side by side here in this country of ours ... You, the mothers who sent their sons from faraway countries, wipe away your tears; your sons are now lying in our bosom and are in peace. After having lost their lives on this land they have become our sons as well.

[Kemal Atatürk Memorial, Anzac Parade, Canberra]

In conclusion, the history of units using the ANZAC name is long and is a testament to the strong and enduring alliance between the people and nations of Australia and New Zealand. From the original ANZAC Corps in the Great war, through to their brief appearance in the Second World War, a more substantial collaboration in the Vietnam War and in Timor Leste, Australians and New Zealanders have stood and fought together.

Letters to the Editor

Hi David and Greetings from the Deep North

Loved Chris Acton's letter and his memories of the Old and Bold, which reminded me of my short, but great time with 10 RSAR from March 1966 to April 1967. I discharged from the CMF on 11 April 66 and joined the ARA on 12 Apr 67; kept my CMF number, which threw the instructors at 1 RTB into a tizz.

I recall after parading at the Torrens Parade Ground – marching up and down – retiring to the diggers boozer and singing the provost song and other WW2 ditties, particularly Bless em All, with great gusto. Singing them now would find one locked up. The duty officer or Sergeant would visit the boozer and in dulcet voice endeavor to have us take our leave; the general response was a polite "go ye forth and multiply". Great days. I would climb into my 1934 Austin, fuelled up, me, not the Austin, and blithely putter down Prospect Road around 11.00pm to home at Blair Athol.

Recruit training at Woodside; freezing cold in May and early morning fog covering the parade ground. Our instructors couldn't see us recruits and we couldn't see them, so I think we all went back to bed; the instructors still yelling drill movements. Joe Vella was one of the instructors, we went to the same school and are still in contact. Cold nights creeping around the Adelaide Hills and, was it jungle training at Cultana? Nothing like a bit of imagination. Anyway, I thought the CMF was terrific, paying us to drink cheap beer amongst likeminded, patriotic lads, so I decided that the ARA would pay me more to drink beer and do a bit of hiking. As an ex Christian Brothers boy, I knew that the regular Army would be a doddle as the Christian Brothers are meaner, tougher and less predictable than the Army.

I recall the stirring words of a hoary old major, who wore the ribbons of WW2 and Korea; a proud Rat of Tobruk, who had bashed and battered his way through the Middle East to the craggy ridges of New Guinea; a no-nonsense bloke and a philosopher.

"Listen in you lot. In your selection into the Australian Army, the government, in its infinite wisdom, has always readily accepted those who can urinate in milk bottles, touch their toes with their trousers down, hold their breath before an X-Ray machine, play games with sleeping psychiatrists, and lie successfully about the lack of insanity, epilepsy, leprosy and venereal disease in their family histories, thus the Australian Army gets the cream of the nation's men".

Being a slow learner, or maybe a deep thinker, I remained in the ARA for 20 years and a further 14 years in the ARES as an instructor at 1 Trg Gp.

One of my most enjoyable ARA postings, was CSM HQ 2 Div at Moore Park Barracks, Sydney. A few stories there.

Cheers
